

Week 4 - Christian Aid

#addewidagobaith #hopeandpromise

A prayer to say together

Lord of all the earth,
Let the wonder and
power of nature
inspire us to hope and work for the healing of creation
Amen

This week Mari McNeil, Head of Christian Aid Wales writes us a letter...

Dear teachers and parents,

As all our thoughts are on the Covid-19 situation and as schools across Wales close, we would like to share with you an activity and resource for use at home over the coming weeks.

We live in an increasingly interconnected world. Our local community is global. Coronavirus has shown us that our futures are bound more tightly together than ever before.

The climate crisis remains one of the most critical issues of our time and we want to share children's reflections on creation with the leaders of our world. Could your pupils or children use their creative skills to develop a 'think piece' on the beauty of the natural world and the importance of climate justice?

Over these coming weeks, why not use the materials suggested in the Letters for Creation pack to introduce your pupils or children to the theme, and invite them to create a piece of writing, music, drama, or artwork on climate justice. The Letters for Creation teaching pack touches on different aspects of learning: science, geography, religious education, language, art.

The pack is available to order and/or download from the Christian Aid website in English and Welsh:

Please send examples of your work to wales@christian-aid.org or Christian Aid Wales, Churchgate Court, 3 Church Road, Cardiff CF14 2DX by 22 May 2020 (please note, this deadline may be delayed).

We hope that a selection of the entries will be incorporated into a special exhibition in the run up to Lambeth Conference (an assembly of the worldwide Anglican Communion) and the UN COP26 summit (which will bring together political leaders for action on climate change).

We would love to hear from you if you plan to do this activity at home! Please keep in touch with us, sharing your stories and photos via wales@christian-aid.org or via Facebook @ChristianAidCymru or Twitter @DileuTlodi

Thank you for your support.

How does this link to my school curriculum?
